NEW CREATIVE SPACE IN KATHERINE

Anglicare NT's Katherine Regional Office today launched a new creative space, the Barramundi Room. The Barramundi Room is an open-planned, colourful space featuring computer equipment, a fully equipped kitchen, dining area, a workshop area and a chill-out corner.

'Anglicare NT's wide range of community services will benefit from this new space in Katherine. The space will be used for client programs, workshops, networking meetings, professional development training and community service venue hire,' said Anglicare NT CEO David Pugh.

'Youth and housing clients are looking forward to using the space to develop their independent living skills. Clients will learn barista coffee making, meal preparation, budgeting, shopping, money handling and customer service skills.'

Weekly morning teas will be held on Friday mornings at the new Barramundi Room. Coffee and cakes will be on sale, made and served by program participants.

'The morning teas will provide Anglicare NT staff and clients a positive social connection with local service providers and members of the local community. We look forward to commencing this great weekly event to build social connection and engagement between the community and Anglicare NT,' said David Pugh.

Local community organisations are welcome to book the new space. Please contact Anglicare NT in Katherine to book the Barramundi Room on 8963 6100.
